Handling & Herding of Livestock

Animal management

First for a point of balance, it is an instictive anti predator response and cattle bunch together for security and safety and a farmer should use the flight zone, point of balance and loose bunching to move the cattle. Finally for cattle circle and turn, animals confuse predator by creating distraction and this shows that animals are under pressure.