

How to make broiler growth booster, faster & gain more weight

Strategies to implement

Start by selecting the right chicken breed from a reputable hatchery, this can be done by conducting proper checks before purchasing chicks. Also, feed chicks adequate good quality feeds during the first 7 days of arrival since during this period the birds have a high feed conversion rate. Furthermore, make feeds and fresh water accessible to chicks at all times during the first weeks of arrival. Lastly, avoid starving birds and install lights at night in chicken houses to allow birds to eat at all times.

Additional measures

Always, provide fresh clean water and light daily. Also, conduct periodic checks on birds and use natural growth promoters as these boost growth as well as serve as antibiotics. Furthermore, purchase good quality feeds from reputable suppliers and provide chicks with supplementary feeds containing calcium and minerals. Lastly, sort birds according to size, weight and control diseases on the farm.
