

How to make cheaper and nutritious chicken feeds using dried pawpaw peels

Preparation and benefits

To prepare papaya chicken feed, start by collecting papaya peels, thereafter remove all foreign materials from collected papaya peels. Furthermore, chop the collected papaya peels into small pieces for a faster drying process and to ease the grinding process. Additionally, air-dry chopped papaya materials, this should be done under a shade. After proper drying grind the peels into powder. However, if you buy already-made chicken feeds, you should add 90 grams of papaya meal for every kilo of feed.
