

Natural treatment of paralysis in broiler birds

Paralysis treatment

Always, feed birds on good quality feeds with essential nutrients from trusted sources as well as supplementing feeds with vitamins. Additionally, vaccinate chicks against incurable diseases, provide organic treatments to chickens periodically to boost body immunity and also ensure great care during chick transportation as well as using wood shavings in brooder. Lastly, when storing feeds, ensure to store them well. Lastly, do not feed birds on expired feeds and do not over stock feeds as these may get expired before being consumed.