

Using banana flour to promote broiler growth and to reduce feeding costs

Banana flour benefits

Banana flour is very advantageous in poultry farming as it contributes to gut health thus creating a favorable environment for digestive enzymes. Additionally, it also increases feed intake since bananas contain a lot of fiber. Lastly, banana flour also facilitates increased weight gain as well as increased growth rate in broiler birds.

Preparation steps

Start by selecting good quality bananas, thereafter peel them properly and chop them into pieces to facilitate a faster drying process. Thereafter sun dry the chopped bananas and thereafter grind them into flour before adding them to feeds.
